

DRESS, BODY, CULTURE

Undressing Religion

Commitment and Conversion from a
Cross-Cultural Perspective

Edited by

Linda B. Arthur

Oxford • New York

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Note on Contributors	ix
List of Illustrations	xiii
Introduction	1
1 Cloth and Conversion: Yoruba Textiles and Ecclesiastical Dress Elisha P. Renne	7
2 Minkisi Do Not Die; BaKongo Cosmology in the Christian Rituals of Simon Kimbangu and Simon Mpadi Shannen Hill	25
3 Dressing the Divine Horsemen: Clothing as Spirit Identification in Haitian Vodou Susan Tselos	45
4 Christianity, Cloth, and Dress in the Andes Lynn A. Meisch	65
5 Clothed with Authority: The Rationalization of Marist Dress-Culture William J. F. Keenan	83
6 Confucianism Manifested in Korean Dress from the Sixteenth to Seventeenth Centuries Inwoo Chang and Haekyung L. Yu	101
7 Islamic Religion and Women's Dress Code: The Islamic Republic of Iran Faegheh Shirazi	113

Contents

8	The Afghan Woman's Chaadaree : An Evocative Religious Expression? M. Catherine Daly	131
9	Sartorial Entanglements of a Gujarati Wife Emma Tarlo	147
10	Veiling and Unveiling: Reconstructing Malay Female Identity in Singapore Joseph Stimpfl	169
11	Continuation and Change in Tenganan Pegeringsingan, Bali L. Kaye Crippen and Patricia M. Mulready	183
12	School Uniforms as a Symbolic Metaphor for Competing Ideologies in Indonesia Linda B. Arthur	201
	Index	217