

Anthropology
AND THE POLITICS OF Representation

Edited by Gabriela Vargas-Cetina

THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA PRESS
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

Contents

List of Illustrations vii

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction: Anthropology and the Politics of Representation

Gabriela Vargas-Cetina i

I. IDENTITY STRATEGIES

1. Double Trouble: Implications of Historicizing Identity Discourses

Les W. Field 19

2. Strategic Essentialism, Scholarly Inflation, and Political Litmus Tests:
The Moral Economy of Hying the Contemporary Mayas

David Stoll 33

3. Yucatecan Food and the Postcolonial Politics of Representation

Steffan Igor Ayora-Diaz 49

4. Subverting Stereotypes: The Visual Politics of Representing Indigenous Modernity

Beth A. Conklin 66

5. Labels, Genuine and Spurious: Anthropology and the Politics of Otherness in the United States

Vilma Santiago-Irizarry 78

II. DECENTERING THE ETHNOGRAPHIC SELF

6. “Gone Anthropologist”: Epistemic Slippage, Native Anthropology, and the Dilemmas of Representation

Bernard C. Perley 101

7. Matthew the Canadian Journalist: Engagement and Representation in Highland Guatemala
Timothy J. Smith	119
8. Performing Music, Silence, Noise, and Anthropology in Yucatan, Mexico
Gabriela Vargas-Cetina	140
9. Ethnography and the Cultural Politics of Environmentalism
Tracey Heatherington	157
10. Notes on the Use and Abuse of Cultural Knowledge
Frederic W. Gleach	176
III. ANTHROPOLOGY IN CRUCIAL PLACES
11. Rooted or Extinct? Post-Soviet Anthropology and the Construction of Indigenusness
Sergey Sokolovskiy	193
12. Anthropology on Trial: Australian Anthropology and Native Title Litigation
Katie Glaskin	212
13. The Politics of Europeanization, Representation, and Anthropology in Northern Ireland
Thomas M. Wilson	230
Epilogue: Identities and the Politics of Representation
June C. Nash	252
References	259
List of Contributors	297
Index	301