

EVOLUTION AND ECOLOGY

Essays on Social Transformation
by JULIAN H. STEWARD

Edited by Jane C. Steward and Robert F. Murphy

Sondersammelgebiet
Volks- & Völkerkunde
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS PRESS
Urbana Chicago London

Contents

Preface
by Jane C. Steward	ix
Introduction: The Anthropological Theories of Julian H. Steward
by Robert F. Murphy	1
PART I: THEORY AND METHOD	41
1 The Concept and Method of Cultural Ecology	43
2 Cultural Evolution	58
3 Evolutionary Principles and Social Types	68
4 Wittfogel's Irrigation Hypothesis	87
PART II: CULTURE CHANGE AND HISTORY	101
5 The Evolution of Prefarming Societies	103
6 Cultural Evolution in South America	128
7 Tappers and Trappers: Parallel Processes in Acculturation	151
8 Determinism in Primitive Society?	180
9 Carrier Acculturation: The Direct Historical Approach	188
10 The Direct Historical Approach to Archeology	201
11 Function and Configuration in Archeology	208
PART III: MODERNIZATION AND COMPLEX SOCIETIES	215
12 Concepts and Methods of Area Research	217
13 The People of Puerto Rico	240
14 Modernization in Traditional Societies	297
PART IV: THE AMERICAN INDIAN	331
15 Limitations of Applied Anthropology: The Case of the Indian New Deal	333
16 The Ceremonial Buffoon of the American Indian	347
17 The Foundations of Basin-Plateau Shoshonean Society	366