
Travellers' Tales

Narratives of home and displacement

Edited by George Robertson,
Melinda Mash, Lisa Tickner, Jon Bird,
Barry Curtis and Tim Putnam

London and New York

Contents

List of figures	ix
Notes on contributors	xi
Acknowledgements	xiv
As the world turns: introduction	1
Forwards
1 Other than myself/my other self Trinh T. Minh-ha	9
Part I Neighbours
2 Discovering new worlds: politics of travel and metaphors of space Jacques Rancière	29
3 The becoming threshold of matrixial borderlines Bracha Lichtenberg-Ettinger	38
4 Territories of desire: reconsiderations of an African childhood Griselda Pollock	63
Part II Home and away
5 Home and identity Madan Sarup	93
6 For a politics of nomadic identity Chantal Mouffe	105
7 Refugees and homecomings: Bessie Head and the end of exile Rob Nixon	114

Part III Crossroads
8	Soft-soaping empire: commodity racism and imperial advertising 131 Anne McClintock
9	Travelling to collect: the booty of John Bargrave and Charles Waterton 155 Stephen Bann
10	Looking at objects: memory, knowledge in nineteenth-century ethnographic displays 164 Nélia Dias
11	The distance between two points: global culture and the liberal dilemma 177 Annie E. Coombes
12	The cosmopolitan ideal in the arts 187 Peter Wollen
Part IV Take the high road
13	'Getting there': travel, time and narrative 199 Barry Curtis and Claire Pajaczkowska
14	Travel for men: from Claude Lévi-Strauss to the Sailor Hans 216 Adrian Rifkin
15	Why travel? Tropics, en-tropics and apo-tropaics 225 Sunpreet Arshi, Carmen Kirstein, Riaz Naqvi and Falk Pankow
Backwords
16	Leaky habitats and broken grammar 245 Iain Chambers
	Index 250