

Late Imperial Culture

Edited by

ROMÁN DE LA CAMPA
E. ANN KAPLAN
MICHAEL SPRINKER

VERSO

London · New York

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction MICHAEL SPRINKER	1
1 Postcolonialism: What's in a Name? AIJAZ AHMAD	11
2 'Getting to Know You': Travel, Gender, and the Politics of Representation in Anna and the King of Siam and The King and I CAREN KAPLAN	33
3 'Dark Enough for Any Man': Bram Stoker's Sexual Ethnology and the Question of Irish Nationalism DAVID GLOVER	53
4 Notes on 'Activist Photography' STEVEN CAGAN	72
5 Eurocentrism, Polycentrism, and Multicultural Pedagogy: Film and the Quincentennial ROBERT STAM	97
6 Postmodernism and Revolution: A Central American Case Study ROMÁN DE LA CAMPA	122
7 Refugees and Homecomings: Bessie Head and the End of Exile ROB NIXON	149

8	The Struggle over Representation: Casting, Coalitions, and the Politics of Identification ELLA SHOHAT	166
9	Performing in the Postcolony: The Plays of Mustapha Matura MAY JOSEPH	179
10	Piercings MARIANNA TORGONICK	197
	Index	211