

MESS
MEDITERRANEAN ETHNOLOGICAL
SUMMER SCHOOL

Piran, Slovenia, 1994-1995

Edited by: Borut Brumen and Zmago Šmitek

Slovensko etnološko društvo/Slovene Ethnological Society,
Ljubljana 1995

Contents

Borut Brumen and Zmago Šmitek

About that MESS, 7-10

Cathie Carmichael

Locating Trieste in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, 11-21

Michael Harbsmeier

Spontaneous ethnographies: Towards a social history of travellers' tales, 23-39

Elke-Nicole Kappus

Ethnicity in the borderland: Slovenes and Italians in Trieste, 41-56

Christian Giordano

The gulf between state and citizens in complex societies: An interpretive approach to political anthropology, 57-69

Bojan Baskar

Northeast entrance into the Mediterranean, 71-84

Ernest Gellner

On nations and nationalism, 85-96

Dunja Rihtman-Auguštin

National bias in ethnology, 97-103

Georg Elwert

Boundaries, cohesion and switching: On we-groups in ethnic, national and religious form, 105-121

Daniel Miller

From grocery shopping to political economy, 123-130

Hermann Fetz

Material culture - can objects tell us something about past societies, 131-142

Naško Križnar

Transformation and reduction of visual information in the process of making an ethnographic film, 143-149