

Ethnography at the Edge
Crime, Deviance, and Field Research

Jeff Ferrell and Mark S. Hamm,
Editors

Northeastern University Press
Boston

Contents

Foreword: Moving Backward xii
Patricia A. Adler and Peter Adler

Preface xvii

Introduction 1

True Confessions:
Crime, Deviance, and Field Research 2
Jeff Ferrell and Mark S. Hamm

Criminological Verstehen:
Inside the Immediacy of Crime 20
Jeff Ferrell

Homeless and Marginal Populations: Streets and Shelters 43

Ethnographers, Pimps, and the Company Store 44
Mark S. Fleisher

Shattered Lives and Shelter Lies?
Anatomy of Research Deviance in Homeless Programming and Policy 65
Bruce A. Arrigo

Militarism, Terror, and the State 87

Enjoying Militarism:
Political/Personal Dilemmas
in Studying U.S. Police Paramilitary Units 88
Peter B. Kraska

The Ethnography of Terror:
Timothy McVeigh and the Blue Centerlight of Evil 111
Mark S. Hamm

Sex Work and Gender Work 131

Reversing the Ethnographic Gaze:
Experiments in Cultural Criminology 132
Stephanie Kane

(Dis)Courtesy Stigma:
Fieldwork among Phone Fantasy Workers 146
Christine Mattley

Drugs and Drug Worlds:
Urban and Rural 159

Researching Crack Dealers:
Dilemmas and Contradictions 160
Bruce A. Jacobs

Marijuana Subcultures: Studying Crime in Rural America	178
Ralph A. Weisheit

Edgework, Honesty, and Criminality	205
---	------------

Honesty, Secrecy, and Deception in the Sociology of Crime: Confessions and Reflections from the Backstage	206
Kenneth D. Tunnell

Dangerous Methods: Risk Taking and the Research Process	221
Stephen Lyng

Conclusions and Prospects	253
----------------------------------	------------

Confessions of Danger and Humanity	254
Mark S. Hamm and Jeff Ferrell
References	273
Contributors	301
Index	305