

The Native American Identity in Sports

Creating and Preserving a Culture

Edited by Frank A. Salamone

THE SCARECROW PRESS, INC.
Lanham • Toronto • Plymouth, UK
2013

Contents

Preface	v
1 Building a Library Collection: Fifty Years of Native American Athletes, Sports, and Games on Film Daisy V. Domínguez	1
2 Asserting Native American Agency in an Assimilationist Institution Stacy Sewell	29
3 Amateur Boxing and Assimilation at the Stewart Indian School, Carson City, Nevada, 1935–1948 Andrew McGregor	41
4 Federal Indian Boarding Schools in New Mexico Sean Sullivan	57
5 American Indian Collegiate Athletes Accessing Higher Education Through Sport Alisse Ali-Christie	91
6 Toka : Empowering Women and Combating Obesity in Tohono O’odham Communities Katherine Brooks	111
7 Native American Wrestling Frank A. Salamone	121
8 Grappling with Tradition: The Seminoles and the Commercialization of Alligator Wrestling Andrew K. Frank	131

9	Sacred Ground and Ground Strokes: The Development of Native American Tennis Misty May Jackson and Jannus Roossien Cottrell	143
10	Billy Mills: Olympic Champion, Lakota Warrior Andrew McGregor	173
11	The Coldest War: Billy Mills, the 1964 Olympics, and the Understandings of Native American Cold War Race Relations Dan L. S. Taradash	185
12	On the Offensive: Anti-Indian Racism in the Creation and Contestation of the NCAA Ban on Native American Mascots C. Richard King	193
	Index	207
	About the Editor and Contributors	211