

WE THE COSMOPOLITANS
Moral and Existential Conditions of Being Human

Edited By
Lisette Josephides and Alexandra Hall

Sondersammelgebiet
Volks- & Völkerkunde
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

berghahn
NEW YORK • OXFORD
www.berghahnbooks.com

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
INTRODUCTION: We the Cosmopolitans: Framing the Debate Lisette Josephides	I
CHAPTER 1 Citizens of Everything: The Aporetics of Cosmopolitanism Ronald Stade	29
CHAPTER 2 The Capacities of Anyone: Accommodating the Universal Human Subject as Value and in Space Nigel Rapport	48
CHAPTER 3 Cosmopolitan Morality in the British Immigration and Asylum System Alexandra Hall	68
CHAPTER 4 Experiences of Pain: A Gateway to Cosmopolitan Subjectivity? Anne Sigfrid Grønseth	90
CHAPTER 5 Cosmopolitanism as Welcoming the Other and Imperilling the Self: Ethics and Early Encounters between Lyons Missionaries and West African Rulers Marc Schiltz	III
CHAPTER 6 The Cartoon Controversy and the Possibility of Cosmopolitanism Thomas Hylland Eriksen	135
CONCLUSION Alexandra Hall	156
Notes on Contributors	171
Index	173