

Public Anthropology in a Borderless World

Edited by

Sam Beck and Carl A. Maida

Sondersammelgebiet
Volks- & Völkerkunde
In Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

berghahn
NEW YORK • OXFORD
www.berghahnbooks.com

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	xii
Introduction	1
Carl A. Maida and Sam Beck
Chapter 1	Community-Based Research Organizations: Co-constructing Public Knowledge and Bridging Knowledge/Action Communities Through Participatory Action Research
	36
Jean J. Schensul
Chapter 2	Crossing the Line: Participatory Action Research in a Museum Setting
	66
Alaka Wali and Madeleine Tudor
Chapter 3	Monitoring the Commons: Giving "Voice" to Environmental Justice in Pacoima
	89
Carl A. Maida
Chapter 4	Political-Ethical Dilemmas Participant Observed
	118
Josiah McC. Heyman
Chapter 5	Public Anthropology and Structural Engagement: Making Ameliorating Social Inequality Our Primary Agenda
	144
Merrill Singer
Chapter 6	Public Anthropology and the Transformation of Anthropological Research
	162
Louise Lamphere

Chapter 7	Public Anthropology and Its Reception Judith Goode	192
Chapter 8	Anthropology for Whom? Challenges and Prospects of Activist Scholarship Angela Stuesse	221
Chapter 9	“We Are Plumbers of Democracy”: A Study of Aspirations to Inclusive Public Dialogues in Mexico and Its Repercussions Raúl Acosta	247
Chapter 10	What Everybody Should Know About Nature-Culture: Anthropology in the Public Sphere and “The Two Cultures” Thomas Hylland Eriksen	264
Chapter 11	Reimagining the Fragmented City/Citizen: Young People and Public Action in Rio de Janeiro Udi Mandel Butler	286
Chapter 12	Urban Transitions: Graffiti Transformations Sam Beck	314
Chapter 13	Recreating Community: New Housing for Amui Djor Residents Tony Asare, Erika Mamley Osae, and Deborah Pellow	351
Index		376