
Anthropological Ethics in Context

AN ONGOING DIALOGUE

EDITED BY

Dena Plemmons
and Alex W. Barker

Sondersammelgebiet Volks- & Völkerkunde

in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

Walnut Creek, California

CONTENTS

Preface | 7

CHAPTER ONE | 9

Introduction: Ethics, Work, and Life—
Individual Struggles and Professional “Comfort Zones” in Anthropology

Virginia R. Dominguez

CHAPTER TWO | 23

A Short History of American Anthropological Ethics, Codes, Principles, and Responsibilities—
Professional and Otherwise

David H. Price

CHAPTER THREE | 39

Background and Context to the Current Revisions

Dena Plemmons and Alex W. Barker

CHAPTER FOUR | 75

Do No Harm

Katherine C. MacKinnon

CHAPTER FIVE | 91

Be Open and Honest Regarding Your Work

David H. Price

CHAPTER SIX | 107

Make Your Results Accessible

Alex W. Barker

CHAPTER SEVEN | 119

Obtain Informed Consent and Necessary Permissions

Robert Albro and Dena Plemmons

CHAPTER EIGHT | 145

Weigh Competing Ethical Obligations to Collaborators and Affected Parties

Nathaniel Tashima and Cathleen Crain

CHAPTER NINE | 167

Protect and Preserve Your Records

Alex W. Barker

CHAPTER TEN | 183

Maintain Respectful and Ethical Professional Relationships

Dena Plemmons

CHAPTER ELEVEN | 207

What's Different?

Alex W. Barker and Dena Plemmons

CHAPTER TWELVE | 213

On Professional Diversity and the Future of Anthropology

Laura A. McNamara

AFTERWORD | 231

Ethics as Institutional Process

Monica Heller

Index | 237

About the Editors and Contributors | 245