

THE ANTHROPOLOGIST AS WRITER
Genres and Contexts in the Twenty-First Century

Edited by Helena Wulff

FID SOZIAL- UND KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

berghahn
NEW YORK • OXFORD
www.berghahnbooks.com

Contents

List of Tables	vii
Acknowledgments	viii
Introducing the Anthropologist as Writer: Across and Within Genres Helena Wulff	1
I. The Role of Writing in Anthropological Careers
1. The Necessity of Being a Writer in Anthropology Today Dominic Boyer	21
2. Reading, Writing, and Recognition in the Emerging Academy Don Brenneis	33
3. O Anthropology, Where Art Thou? An Auto-Ethnography of Proposals Sverker Finnström	46
4. The Craft of Editing: Anthropology's Prose and Qualms Brian Moeran	60
5. The Anglicization of Anthropology: Opportunities and Challenges Máiréad Nic Craith	73
II. Ethnographic Writing
6. The Anthropologist as Storyteller Alma Gotlieb	93
7. Writing for the Future Paul Stoller	118

8. Life-Writing: Anthropological Knowledge, Boundary-Making, and the Experiential Narmala Halstead	129
9. Chekhov as Ethnographic Muse Kirin Narayan	143
III. Reaching Out: Popular Writing and Journalism
10. On Some Nice Benefits and One Big Challenge of the Second File Anette Nyquist	161
11. The Writer as Anthropologist Oscar Hemer	172
12. Writing Together: Tensions and Joy between Scholars and Activists Eva-Maria Hardtmann, Vincent Manoharan, Urmila Devi, Jussi Eskola, and Swarna Sabrina Francis	188
IV. Writing across Genres
13. Fiction and Anthropological Understanding: A Cosmopolitan Vision Nigel Rapport	215
14. On Timely Appearances: Literature, Art, Anthropology Mattias Viktorin	230
15. Digital Narratives in Anthropology Paula Uimonen	243
16. Writing Otherwise Ulf Hannerz	254
Index	271