

Karin Priem and Kerstin te Heesen (Eds.)

On Display: Visual Politics, Material Culture, and Education

Sondersammelgebiet
Volks- & Völkerkunde
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

Waxmann 2016
Münster · New York

Inhalt

Acknowledgments5

Karin Priem and Kerstin te Heesen

On Display: Visual Politics,
Material Culture and Education9

I. Learning How to See and to Act: Visual Concepts and Material Manifestations

Robert Hariman

Icon, Allegory, Catastrophe: Three Modes of Articulation within 21st Century Public Culture 17

Gudrun M. König

Displaying Things: Perspectives from Cultural Anthropology 35

Karin Priem

Facts for Babies: Visual Experiments at the Intersection of Art,
Science, and Consumerism in Education 47

Jan C. Watzlawik

On "Casseroles" and Cobblestones:
Approaches to the Material Culture of Public Protest 69

Eric J. Sandeen

The Family of Man on the Road to Clervaux: From Temporary
American Installation to Permanent Site of World Memory 83

Kerstin te Heesen

From the Madonna lactans to The Family of Man:
Tracing a Visual Frame of Reference Through History 99

II. Missions Accessible to All: The Politics of Display and the Shaping of Minds

Kristen Gresh

The Politics of Photography: The Family of Man and the Museum of Modern Art's War Program 127

Æsa Sigurjónsdóttir

Hot Spots in the Cold War: Scripts, Visual Agendas, and Relocated Narratives in Cold War Photography 145

III. Heritage Making and Identity Formation:
The Nation on Display

Françoise Poos

Work in Progress! Negotiating Visual Politics at the Centre national de l'audiovisuel in Luxembourg 171

Brian I. Daniels

Dimensions of National Heritage in the USA 189

Notes on Contributors 207