

Michał Piotr Pręgowski
Editor

Companion Animals in Everyday Life

Situating Human-Animal Engagement
within Cultures

Sondersammelgebiet
Volks- & Völkerkunde
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

palgrave
macmillan

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
Michał Piotr Pęgowski
Part I Conceptualizing Our Relationships with Animals	11
Companion Animals and Nuisance Species: Adventures in the Exotic, the Wild, the Illegal, and Cross-Cultural Comfort Zones	13
Sara Waller
Anthrozoology in the Netherlands: Connecting Science and Practice	27
Jannes Eshuis, Marie-José Enders-Slegers, and Theo Verheggen
Bringing the Beast Back In: The Rehabilitation of Pet Keeping in Soviet Russia	43
Amy Nelson
Part II Taking the Plunge: Adopting a Companion Animal, Traditional and Otherwise	59

Perceptions of Personality: How What We See Influences Our Perceptions About and Behavior Toward Companion Animals Miranda K. Workman	61
“A Cat-Sized Hole in My Heart”: Public Perceptions of Companion Animal Adoption in the USA Jennifer Sinski	73
Rabbits Multiplying Like Rabbits: The Rise in the Worldwide Popularity of Rabbits as Pets Margo DeMello	91
Part III To Eat or to Love?	109
An Appetite for Dogs: Consuming and Loving Them in Vietnam Anthony L. Podberscek	111
Human–Canine Relationships in China Scott Hurley	129
Attitudes to Dogs in Taiwan: A Case Study James A. Serpell and Yuying Hsu	145
Part IV Companion Animals as Political Fallout	167
Semi-Stray Dogs and Graduated Humanness: The Political Encounters of Dogs and Humans in Mexico Iván Sandoval-Cervantes	169
Polarized Opinions and Shared Goals: Feral Cat Management in an Academic Community in Kentucky Rosanne Lorden	183

Strong Bonds: Companion Animals in Post-Tsunami Japan	201
Ross Mouer and Hazuki Kajiwara
Part V The Difference Language Makes	217
“I Am a Dog”: Orhan Pamuk and the Mongrelization of Fiction	219
Jeanne Dubino
Human Names as Companion Animal Names in Poland	235
Michał Piotr Pręgowski
Awareness Can Change a Society: The Link Between Animal Abuse and Domestic Violence in the Netherlands	251
Marie -José Enders-Slegers, Theo Verheggen, and Jannes Eshuis
Part VI Companion Animals and Leisure	267
Chats, Cats and a Cup of Tea: A Sociological Analysis of the Neko Café Phenomenon in Japan	269
Noriko Nijjima
Canine Disc: America’s Best Export Product to Poland	283
Justyna Włodarczyk
Index	299