

Ulrike Kirchberger / Steven Ivings (eds.)

Global Diasporas in the Age of High Imperialism

PETER LANG

Contents

Notes on Contributors	7
Acknowledgements	11
Ulrike Kirchberger Introduction: Comparing Global Diasporas in the Context of Imperial Expansion	13
Wolfram Manzenreiter The Japanese Emigrant Empire: Imperial Aspirations and Diaspora Engagement	41
Steven Ivings Settler Colony or Labour Destination? Karafuto as a Japanese Colony	67
Stefan Manz Language Preservation as Colonialist Practice: German Schools Abroad, 1871–1914	87
Reinhard Wendt From Bipolar Migration to Transcontinental Diaspora Formation: Germans in the Pacific World in the Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries	109
Ida Chingman Yip Nationalism among the Overseas Chinese in Australia and Germany in the Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries	127
David Killingray The Demand for Rights: Pan-Africanism in the Black Atlantic World, c.1890–1913	151
Iqbal Akhtar Exploring the Ethno-Religious Identities of the Khōjā: Preliminary Notes on a Missing Homeland	177

Ulrike Kirchberger

Diasporic Temporalities 187

Index of Personal Names 207