

Critical Theories and the Budapest School

Politics, Culture, Modernity

Edited by Jonathan Pickle and John Rundell

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
List of contributors	xi

Introduction: the Budapest School and its legacies: migration, modernity, philosophy	1
JONATHAN PICKLE AND JOHN RUNDSELL

PART I

A School? Or its homecoming in migration 13

1 The Budapest School – travelling theory?	15
PETER BEILHARZ

2 Learning from the Budapest School women	34
PAULINE JOHNSON

3 Criticism and aesthetics: Ferenc Fehér's views on art	49
SÁNDOR RADNÓTI

PART II

From critique of totalitarianism to critique of political modernity 63

4 The Budapest School on totalitarianism: toward a new version of the critical theory	65
WALDEMAR BULIRA

5 The critical power of needs: the radical potential in Márkus's and Heller's philosophical anthropology	82
AARON JAFFE

6	Praxis beyond the political: György Márkus contra Hannah Arendt	100
	JONATHAN PICKLE
7	Pathways to the ‘Open Utopia’: Heller and Fehér on Lukács’s messianic Marxism	120
	MICHAEL E. GARDINER
8	Adventures in biopolitics	140
	JOHN GRUMLEY
9	The absolute present of historical consciousness: Ágnes Heller between the postmodern and the contemporary	157
	DAVID ROBERTS
PART III
	Critical theories and the Budapest School: reflections on György Márkus and Ágnes Heller	173
10	Philosophy in the times of late modernity: reflections on György Márkus’s Culture, Science, Society	175
	JÁNOS KIS
11	Ágnes Heller’s theory of action: the incompleteness of the human being	188
	JOHN RUNDELL
12	Ágnes Heller and the Kantian imaginary	208
	MARCIA MORGAN
13	Existential choice as existential comedy: Ágnes Heller’s wager	217
	KATIE TEREZAKIS
14	The comic political condition: Ágnes Heller’s philosophy of laughter and liberty	239
	PETER MURPHY
15	The image of the ‘good friend’ in Heller: a bridge between everyday life and transcendence	262
	SERGIO MARISCAL
	Index	283