

Women Writing War

From German Colonialism through World War I

Edited by
Katharina von Hammerstein
Barbara Kosta
Julie Shoults

DE GRUYTER

Table of Contents

Katharina von Hammerstein, Barbara Kosta, and Julie Shoults

Introduction

Women Writing War: From German Colonialism through World War I — 1

Representations of Colonial Conflicts

Katharina von Hammerstein

“Who Owns Hereroland?”

Diverse Women’s Perspectives on Violence in the German-Herero Colonial War — 27

Cindy Patey Brewer

Christian Love and Other Weapons

The Domestic Heroine of the Multiracial Colonial Mission “Family” as an Antiwar Icon in Hedwig Irle’s Mission Memoirs — 57

Maureen O. Gallagher

Girls, Imperialism and War in Women’s Writing from the German-Herero War and WWI — 79

Views from the Colonies on WWI

Marianne Bechhaus-Gerst

Woman on the Edge of Time

Frieda Schmidt and the Great War in East Africa — 105

Livia Rigotti

World War I in Samoa as Reported by Frieda Zieschank in the German Colonial Magazine Kolonie und Heimat — 123

Political Perspectives on Nationalism and WWI

Shelley E. Rose

Bertha von Suttner's Die Waffen nieder! and the Gender of German Pacifism — 143

James M. Skidmore

Ricarda Huch's First World War — 163

Julie Shoults

Hermynia Zur Mühlen

Writing a Socialist-Feminist Pacifism in the Aftermath of WWI — 181

Constructing the Labor of War: Girls, Mothers and Nurses

Jennifer Redmann

Girls Reading the Great War

German and Anglo-American Literature for Young Women, 1914 – 1920 — 209

Cindy Walter-Gensler

Käte Kestien's Als die Männer im Graben lagen

WWI Criticism through the Lens of Motherhood — 229

Margaret R. Higonet

Three Nurses' Life-Writing

Scrapbook, Portrait, and Construction of a Self — 247

Narratives of Loss and Grief in Art and Literature

Erika Quinn

Writing and Reading Death

German Women's Novels of World War I — 271

Erika Kuhlman

War Widows' Dilemma

Emotion, the Myths of War and the Search for Selbständigkeit — 289

Martina Kolb

Intimations of Mortality from Recollections of Atrocity

Käthe Kollwitz and the Art of Mourning — 305

Notes on Authors — 329

Names Index — 333