

Control Culture

Foucault and Deleuze after Discipline

Edited by Frida Beckman

EDINBURGH
University Press

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Introduction. Control of What? Frida Beckman	i
1 Notes from an Investigation of 'Control Society' Gregg Lambert	20
2 Post-Mortem on Race and Control Neel Ahuja	34
3 Periodising (with) Control Seb Franklin	44
4 Subjects of Sovereign Control and the Art of Critique in the Early Modern Period Carin Franzén	63
5 Posthumanism, Social Complexity and the Political: A Genealogy for Foucault's The Birth of Biopolitics Cary Wolfe	82
6 'That Path is for Your Steps Alone': Popular Music, Neoliberalism and Biopolitics Jeffrey T. Nealon	101
7 Cinema in the Age of Control Gregory Flaxman	121

8	Towards a 'Minor' Fascism: Panoptic Control and Resistant Multiplicity in TV's Spooks Colin Gardner	141
9	Species States: Animal Control in Phil Klay's 'Redeployment' Colleen Glenney Boggs	166
10	Control and a Minor Literature Frida Beckman	180
11	Philosophy and Control Paul Patton	193
	Index	211