

Sensual Religion

Religion and the Five Senses

Edited by
Graham Harvey and Jessica Hughes

FID SOCIAL MEDIA
KONFERENZEN
Zusammenarbeit mit der JFG

equinox

SHEFFIELD UK BRISTOL CT

Contents

Series Foreword Graham Harvey	vii
List of Figures	x
Introduction Graham Harvey	1
Section One: Smell
1 A Pleasing Odour for Yahweh: The Smell of Sacrifices on Mount Gerizim and in the Hebrew Bible Anne Katrine de Hemmer Gudme	19
2 Wafting Incense and Heavenly Foods: The Importance of Smell in Chinese Religion Shawn Arthur	37
Section Two: Taste
3 The Taste of Religion in the Roman World Zena Kamash	63
4 Candomblé's Eating Myths: Religion Stated in Food Language Patricia Rodrigues de Souza	84

Section Three: Sight

- 5 Sight and the Byzantine Icon
Angeliki Lymberopoulou 109
- 6 'Seeing' My Beloved: Darśan and the Sikhi Perspective
Opinderjit Kaur Takhar 131

Section Four: Hearing

- 7 Resounding Mysteries: Sound and Silence in the Eleusinian
Soundscape
Georgia Petridou 149
- 8 North American Indigenous Song, the Sacred and the Senses
Byron Dueck 170

Section Five: Touch

- 9 The Texture of the Gift: Religious Touching in the Greco-Roman World
Jessica Hughes 191
- 10 Touching, Crafting, Knowing: Religious Artefacts and the Fetish within Animism
Amy Whitehead 215
- Index 237