

To Be at Home

House, Work, and Self in the Modern World

Edited by
Felicitas Hentschke and James Williams

DE GRUYTER
OLDENBOURG

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements — XIII

Andreas Eckert

Preface — XV

Mamphela Ramphela

Foreword — XVII

Felicitas Hentschke and James Williams

Introduction — 1

Section 1

Homes and Mobility: Borders, Boundaries, Thresholds

Heike Drotbohm

Shoes Painfully Small: Material and Maternal (Dis)comfort in Cape Verdean Remittance Houses — 13

Eric Allina

Hostel, Home, and ‘Life-Rhythm’ for African Workers behind the Berlin Wall — 19

James Williams

Kinship and Displacement in Post-War Liberia: Children’s Lives in an IDP Camp — 23

Alla Bolotova

Making Home in the Industrialized Russian Arctic — 29

Section 2

Houses, Work, and Everyday Life: Rhythms, Ruptures, Cycles

David Warren Sabean

Constructing Middle-Class Milieus in Nineteenth-Century Germany: The Labor of Geselligkeit — 39

Gerd Spittler

Home-Making among the Kel Ewey Tuareg in the Sahara — 45

Josef Ehmer

Living in Homes, but What Kinds and Whose? Single Young People in Nineteenth-Century Central Europe — 49

Thabang Sefalafala
Experiences of Wagelessness and the Meaning of Wage Work in the Free State Goldfields, South Africa — 56

Mary Jo Maynes and Ann Waltner
Spinning Yarn: The Changing Place of Girls' Work in Chinese and European History — 62

Section 3 Construction, Demolition, Relocation

Anupama Rao
Subaltern Urbanism, or Dwelling and the Unhoused: Histories of Housing in the United States and India — 73

Thaddeus Sunseri
Evicted in Dar es Salaam: From Tanganyika Packers to Uptown Kawe — 80

Felicitas Hentschke
The Changing Faces of a Village: Italian Migrant Workers' Families in Lorraine — 85

Christian Strümpell
Remaking Homes and Reproducing Inequalities in an Eastern Indian Steel Town — 90

Anne-Katrin Bicher
Closed Constructions*: The Apartheid Architecture of Migrant Hostels in Gauteng — 95

Section 4 The Power of Place: Space, Exclusions, Vulnerability

Gadi Algazi
The Naqab/Nagev, Israel: Rebuilding Demolished Homes — 105

Renu Addlakha
Public-Private Continuities and Alternate Domesticities: Welfare 'Homes' in India — 110

Anne Griffiths
Land as a Site for Creating a Home: A Cautionary Tale from Botswana — 115

Vincent Houben
Homes and Colonial Violence in the Dutch East Indies: The Coolie Pondok — 120

Stephen J. Rockel
The Home and the World: Slavery and Domestic Labor in a Nineteenth-Century East African Caravan Town — 125

Section 5

Houses and Selves: Nostalgia, Imagination, Memory

Ju Li

A Woman and a Nation: A Story of Work and Home in China — 137

Sidney Chalhoub

A House for a Missing Self: Nostalgia for Slavery and Its Times in Machado de Assis's Dom Casmurro — 143

Jonathan Hyslop

From Forecastle to Folk Club: The Homeless Seafarer — 148

Nitin Sinha

The Home and the World in Indian Folksongs of Marriage and Migration — 154

Section 6

Networks, Neighborhoods, Communities

Paulo Fontes

'The Land of Boarding Houses': Migrant Workers and Collective Dwellings in São Paulo, Brazil, 1945–1970 — 165

Jürgen Schmidt

The Enlarged Parlour? Structures and Varieties of German Working-Class Housing around 1900 — 170

Rukmini Barua

Legacies of Housing in Ahmedabad's Industrial East: The Chawl and the Slum — 175

Felicitas Hentschke

'Refugees Welcome': German Civil Society and the Arrival of One Million Refugees — 181

Section 7

Being at Home in the World: Thinking with Houses and Homes

Milena Kremakova

Making Home on the High Seas: Bulgarian Seafarers between Ship and Shore — 193

Isaie Dougnon

Owning a Home in Bamako: To Be at Home after Death — 199

Charlotte Bruckermann

From Ancestral Tablets to Patriotic Portraits: Remembering Kinship in Rural Chinese Homes — 204

Cláudio Pinheiro

Unhomely Afterlives: The Works and Lives of Rabindranath Tagore — 210

Reflections I

Nitin Varma

Servant Testimonies and Anglo-Indian Homes in Nineteenth-Century India — 219

Reflections II

Prabhu Mohapatra, with Felicitas Hentschke and Nitin Varma

On Homes, Work, and Personhood: An Interview with Prabhu Mohapatra — 229

Alf Lüdtkke, with Felicitas Hentschke and James Williams

On Photography and History: An Interview with Alf Lüdtkke — 234

Reflections III

Laurent Fourchard

Why Homes Still Matter: Thoughts on Mamphela Ramphela's A Bed Called Home — 245

Contributor Biographies — 253

Picture Credits — 255

Index — 259