

Jos D. M. Platenkamp • Almut Schneider
Editors

Integrating Strangers in Society

Perspectives from Elsewhere

palgrave
macmillan

CONTENTS

1 Introduction	1
Jos D. M. Platenkamp
2 Becoming a Sinta: Learning to See Dreams and Relating to the Dead	23
Elisabeth Tauber
3 “You are like Geese”. Working and Drum Dancing with Inuit Elders in Nunavut (Canada)	39
Frédéric Laugrand
4 Being the Other in Inuit Society	53
Anja Nicole Stuckenberger
5 An Anthropologist in Kanaky. Modulations of Belonging and Otherness	75
Denis Monnerie
6 A Stranger-Archaeologist as Advocate of Māori Development Projects	91
Toon van Meijl
7 On Becoming a Ritual Master Among the Lanten—Yao Mun—Of Laos	111
Joseba Estévez

8	To Be Made Part of the Tobelo Society (North Moluccas)	131
	Jos D. M. Platenkamp
9	Welcome to Tanebar-Evav: Can One Be Incorporated in a Village Society?	147
	Cécile Barraud
10	“What Is Your Empaako?” Naming and Becoming a Munyoro in Western Uganda	165
	Raphaela von Weichs
11	Placing the Newcomer: Staying with the Gawigl of Highland Papua New Guinea	185
	Almut Schneider
12	Mythical Beings from the Swamp Among the Siassi, Papua New Guinea	199
	Pieter ter Keurs
13	The Variegated Integration of an Anthropologist in an Eastern Indian Steel Town	211
	Christian Strümpell
	Index	227