

KNIGHTHOOD AND SOCIETY IN THE HIGH MIDDLE AGES

Edited by

David CROUCH and Jeroen DEPLOIGE

LEUVEN UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

Illustrations	IX
Acknowledgements	XI
David CROUCH and Jeroen DEPLOIGE Taking the Field: Knighthood and Society in the High Middle Ages	1
Part I—Noble Warriors, Warring Nobles	27
Dominique BARTHÉLEMY Chivalry in Feudal Society According to French Evidence	29
Jörg PELTZER Knighthood in the Empire	51
Eljas OKSANEN Knights, Mercenaries and Paid Soldiers: Military Identities in the Anglo-Norman Regnum	71
Part II—Knighthood and Lineage	95
Sara McDOUGALL The Chivalric Family	97
Jean-François NIEUS Sigard's Belt: The Family of Chocques and the Borders of Knighthood (ca. 980–1100)	121
Part III—Martial Ideals in Crusading Memories	143
John D. HOSLER Knightly Ideals at the Siege of Acre, 1189–1191	145
Nicholas L. PAUL Writing the Knight, Staging the Crusader: Manasses of Hierges and the Monks of Brogne	167

Part IV—Women in Chivalric Representations	193
Louise J. WILKINSON The Chivalric Woman	195
Nicolas RUFFINI-ROZANI The Knight, the Lady, and the Poet: Understanding Huon of Oisy's Tournoiement des Dames (ca. 1185–1189)	229
Part V—Didactics of Chivalry	249
Claudia WITTIG Teaching Chivalry in the Empire (ca. 1150–1250)	251
David CROUCH When Was Chivalry? Evolution of a Code	277
Notes on Contributors	297
Index	301