

The Globalization of Gender

Knowledge, Mobilizations, Frameworks of Action

Edited by Ioana Cîrstocea, Delphine Lacombe and Elisabeth Marteu

Contents

Notes on contributors	vii
Preface	ix

Introduction. Gender: a globalized category of public policy and knowledge production	1
IOANA CÎRSTOCEA, DELPHINE LACOMBE AND ELISABETH MARTEU

PART I
Expertise	17

1 Gender as a transnational socialization platform (Eastern Europe, 1990–2000s)	19
IOANA CÎRSTOCEA

2 Becoming gender expert: trajectories and strategies in Tajikistan	39
LUCIA DIRENBERGER

3 Cosmopolitanism and feminism	56
ISABELLE GIRAUD

PART II
Mobilization and politicization	79

4 Violence against women and (de-)colonization of the “body-territory”: from war to neoliberal extractivism in Guatemala	81
JULES FALQUET

5 Globalized gender and creative strategies against inequalities in Turkey: Capital City Women’s Platform (Başkent Kadın Platformu Derneği)	102
AZADEH KIAN
6 Gender globalization and human rights: the politicization of intra-familial and sexual violence in Nicaragua (1979–1996)	123
DELPHINE LACOMBE
7 Local strategies to appropriate UNSC Resolution 1325 “Women, Peace and Security” in Israel-Palestine	144
ELISABETH MARTEU
8 Becoming lesbian in China: a path to emancipation	165
MONIQUE SELIM
PART III
Bureaucratic and economic diversion of gender	185
9 The creation of an international “cause” and its implementation in a national context: the fight against sexual and gender-based violence in the Democratic Republic of Congo	187
JANE FREEDMAN
10 Women as financial subject	205
ISABELLE GUÉRIN
11 “Women’s Rights Washing”: the selective circulation of “Saudi women’s rights” between diplomacy, media and activism	226
AMÉLIE LE RENARD
Conclusion. Gender: a “useful category” for studying globalization	243
IOANA CÎRSTOCEA, DELPHINE LACOMBE AND ELISABETH MARTEU
Index	247