

Pleasure and Leisure in the Middle Ages and Early Modern Age

Cultural-Historical Perspectives
on Toys, Games, and Entertainment

Edited by
Albrecht Classen

DE GRUYTER

Table of Contents

List of Illustrations — 11

Albrecht Classen

Pleasure and Leisure from the Middle Ages to the early Nineteenth Century

The Rediscovery of a Neglected Dimension in Cultural History. Also an Introduction — 1

Christa Agnes Tuczay

Medieval Magicians as Entertainers: Magic as Demonic Illusion or Stagecraft — 161

Carlee Arnett

Hestaping* (Horse Meeting/s) in Medieval Icelandic Culture — 189

Sally Abed

The Transformation of the World through Pleasure and Performance in the Thousand and One Nights — 203

Chiara Benati

Behüde mich vor vngerechtem gude. Were Goods Won in Game “Unjustified”?*
Medieval Gambling — 225

Alex Ukropen

Aldhelm’s Enigmata and the Commentaries from the Canterbury School: A Monastic Curriculum in Play — 241

Warren Tormey

Understanding Monastic Recreations and Luxury within the Anglo-Saxon Patristic Tradition — 267

Fidel Fajardo-Acosta

Subjects of the Game: The Pleasures of Subjection in William IX’s “Ben vueill que sapchon li pluzor” — 287

William Mahan

Peregrine Pleasures: The Sport of Falconry, Lovers, and Self-Identity in Medieval German Literature — 333

Alan V. Murray

Tourney, Joust, Foreis and Round Table: Tournament Forms in the Frauendienst of Ulrich von Liechtenstein — 365

Albrecht Classen

Drinking, Partying, and Drunkenness in Late Medieval German Verse Narratives and Jest Narratives — 395

Daniel F. Pigg

William Langland's Attitude Toward Play, Leisure, and Pastime: A Realignment of Priorities in Post-Plague England — 433

Maria Raid

The Ambraser Hofämterspiel: Playing Cards as a Visual Source for Courtly Life during the Late Middle Ages — 451

Marilyn L. Sandidge

Gawain, Giants, and Tennis in the Fifteenth Century — 473

Sharon Diane King

"J'ai tiré si près / Que je touche au but": Ludic Roots, Spiritual Play in Marguerite de Navarre's L'Inquisiteur — 495

Scott L. Taylor

Jeux Interdits*: The Rationale and Limits of Clerical and Lay Efforts to Enjoin "Scurrilia Solatia" — 517

Michael A. Conrad

Randomization in Paper: Shuffling as a Material Practice with Moral Implications in the Late Middle Ages and Early Modern World — 539

Michael Call

Calculated Losses: Molière, Regnard, and the Changing Comic Gamblers of Seventeenth-Century France — 583

Thomas Willard

"His usuall Retyrement": Henry Vaughan's Life and Writing during the English Civil War — 601

Allison P. Coudert

Jokes and the Eighteenth-Century Unconscious: Enlightening the Early-Modern European Id — 623

Melvyn Lloyd Draper

Enjoying the Waters: Cross-Class Leisure and Pleasure at the Eighteenth Century British Spa — 673

Kevin Moberly, Brent Moberly

Nine Men's Medievalisms: Conquests of the Longbow, Nine Men's Morris, and the Impossibilities of a Half-Forgotten Game's Ludic Past — 695

Biographical Notes about the Contributors — 735

Index — 743