

DRESSING GLOBAL BODIES

The Political Power of Dress in World History

Edited by Beverly Lemire and Giorgio Riello

CONTENTS

List of figures	vii
List of tables	xii
List of contributors	xiii
Introduction: dressing global bodies Beverly Lemire and Giorgio Riello	1
1 The fabric of early globalization: skin, fur and cloth in the de Bry's travel accounts, 1590–1630 Susanna Burghartz	15
2 Fashion in the four parts of the world: time, space and early modern global change Giorgio Riello	41
3 Shirts and snowshoes: imperial agendas and Indigenous agency in globalizing North America, c.1660–1800 Beverly Lemire	65
4 Dressing enslaved Africans in colonial Louisiana Sophie White	85
5 Garments in circulation: the economies of slave clothing in the eighteenth-century Dutch Cape Colony Miki Sugiura	104

vi Contents

6	Clothing as a map to Senegambia's global exchanges at the turn of the nineteenth century Jody Benjamin	131
7	The king's new clothing: re-dressing the body politic in Madagascar, c.1815–1861 Sarah Fee	153
8	Dressing settlers in New Zealand: global interconnections Jane Malthus	182
9	'Anything for mere show would be worse than useless': emigration, dress and the Australian colonies, 1820–1860 Laura Jovic	205
10	Dressing apart: Indian elites and the politics of fashion in British India, c.1750–1850 Tara Mayer	225
11	Visual assimilation and bodily regimes: Protestant programmes and Anishinaabe everyday dress in North America, 1830s–1950s Cory Willmott	240
12	Tailoring in China and Japan: cultural transfer and cutting techniques in the early twentieth century Hissako Anjo and Antonia Finnane	263
13	Global fashion encounters and Africa: affective materialities in Zambia Karen Tranberg Hansen	289
	Index	306