

Ethnic Groups and Boundaries Today

A Legacy of Fifty Years

Edited by Thomas Hylland Eriksen and Marek Jakoubek

FID SOZIAL UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

Contents

List of contributors	vii
1 Introduction: ethnic groups, boundaries and beyond THOMAS HYLLAND ERIKSEN AND MAREK JAKOUBEK	1
2 Barth, ethnicity and culture ANTHONY P. COHEN	20
3 Homage to Fredrik Barth MICHAEL HECHTER	29
4 The dangerous shoals of Ethnic Groups and Boundaries: a personal account KATHERINE VERDERY	35
5 Winners, losers and ethnic flux ULF HANNERZ	43
6 Untangling Gypsy ethnic identity, thanks to Barth JUDITH OKELY	53
7 Boundaries, embarrassments, and social injustice: fredrik Barth and the nation-state MICHAEL HERZFELD	66
8 From ethnos to ethnicity and back VALERY TISHKOV	78
9 Barth and Brexit, online, on target JEREMY MACCLANCY	93

10 Fredrik Barth and the social organization of difference	109
STEVEN VERTOVEC
11 Intersectionality and situationalism: towards a (more) dynamic interpretation of Ethnic Groups and Boundaries	118
PNINA WERBNER
12 Beyond a boundary: flows and mixing in the Creole world	133
THOMAS HYLLAND ERIKSEN
13 The social organization and political contestation of cultural difference: thinking comparatively about religion and language	152
ROGERS BRUBAKER
14 A “hollow” legacy of Ethnic Groups and Boundaries: a critique of the reading and quoting “Barth 1969”	169
MAREK JAKOUBEK
15 Fredrik Barth and the study of ethnicity: reflections on ethnic identity in a world of global political, economic and cultural changes. Interview with Professor Emeritus Gunnar Haaland	187
MAREK JAKOUBEK AND LENKA J. BUDILOVÁ
Index	213