

CONNECTED COMMUNITIES

Creating a new knowledge landscape

COMMUNITIES, ARCHIVES AND NEW COLLABORATIVE PRACTICES

Edited by Simon Popple, Andrew Prescott
and Daniel H. Mutibwa

Contents

List of figures, tables and boxes	vii
Notes on contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xvii
Series editors' foreword	xix
1	Community archives and the creation of living knowledge Simon Pople, Daniel H. Mutibwa and Andrew Prescott	1
2	Disorderly conduct: the community in the archive Simon Pople	19
PART I: Storytelling, co-curation and community archives
3	BBC Pebble Mill: issues around collaborative community online archives – a case study of the Pebble Mill Project Vanessa Jackson	41
4	New island stories: heritage, archives, the digital environment and community regeneration Paul R.J. Duffy	53
5	Memories on film: public archive images and participatory film-making with people with dementia Andrea Capstick and Katherine Ludwin	65
6	Doing-It-Together: citizen archivists and the online environment Jez Collins	79
7	'I've never told anybody that before': the virtual archive and collaborative spaces of knowledge production Tom Jackson	93
PART II: Citizens, archives and the institution
8	Rising beyond museological practice and use: a model for community and museum partnerships working towards modern curatorship in this day and age Daniel H. Mutibwa	109
9	Enhancing museum visits through the creation of data visualisation to support the recording and sharing of experience Ian Gwilt, Patrick McEntaggart, Melanie Levick-Parkin and Jonathan Wood	123

10	The digital citizen: working upstream of digital and broadcast archive developments Kim Hammond, George Revill and Joe Smith	139
11	Institutional collaboration in the creation of digital linguistic resources: the case of the British Telecom correspondence corpus Ralph Morton and Hilary Nesi	153
PART III: Disruptive and counter voices: the community turn
12	Mainstream institutional collecting of anti-institutional archives: opportunities and challenges Anna Sexton	167
13	Silver hair, silver tongues, silver screen: recollection, reflection and representation through digital storytelling with older people Tricia Jenkins and Pip Hardy	181
14	'Wibbly-wobbly timey-wimey' LGBT histories: community archives as boundary objects Niamh Moore	195
15	Locating the Black archive Hannah Ishmael, Ego Ahaiwe Sowinski, Kelly Foster, Etienne Joseph and Nathan E. Richards	207
16	The public and the relational: the collaborative practices of the Inclusive Archive of Learning Disability History Helen Graham, Victoria Green, Kassie Headon, Nigel Ingham, Sue Ledger, Andy Minnion, Row Richards and Liz Tilley	219
17	Archive utopias: linking collaborative histories to local democracy Lianne Brigham, Richard Brigham, Helen Graham and Victoria Hoyle	235
18	Community archives and the health of the internet Andrew Prescott	251
	Index	269