

The Time of Anthropology

Studies of Contemporary Chronopolitics

Edited by
Elisabeth Kirtsoglou and Bob Simpson

FID SOZIAL- UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Preface: Chronocracy and its anthropological alternatives	ix
LAURA BEAR
Introduction: the time of anthropology: studies of contemporary chronopolitics and chronocracy	1
ELISABETH KIRTSOGLOU AND BOB SIMPSON
1 Migrant imaginaries, multiple selves, and the varieties of temporal experience	31
MICHAEL D. JACKSON
2 The tree and the net: spatio-temporal narratives of human population genomics	45
PETER WADE
3 The pulverous state: chronocracy and affect in the politics of environmental risk in Italy	65
MATEUSZ LASZCZKOWSKI
4 Contextualising expectations: reconfiguring progressive politics in the post-industrial era	84
FELIX RINGEL
5 Depressing time: waiting, melancholia, and the psychoanalytic practice of care	103
LAURA SALISBURY AND LISA BARAITSER
6 Monsoon uncertainties, hydro-chemical infrastructures, and ecological time in Sri Lanka	123
TOM WIDGER AND UPUL WICKRAMASINGHE

vi	Contents
7	Partial decomposition: peat and its life cycles RICHARD IRVINE	142
8	Anticipatory nostalgia and nomadic temporality: a case study of chronocracy in the crypto-colony ELISABETH KIRTSOGLOU	159
9	The moment ethnography becomes past: de-temporalising ethnographic nostalgia DIMITRIOS THEODOSSOPOULOS	187
	Index	205