

Music, Dance, Anthropology

Edited by Stephen Cottrell

FID SOCIAL UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der SFG

Sean Kingston Publishing

www.seankingston.co.uk

Canon Pyon

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
STEPHEN COTTRELL

PART I

HISTORIES, THEORIES, CONCEPTS

CHAPTER 1	The Royal Anthropological Institute and the development of ethnomusicology in the UK	11
	JOHN BAILY
CHAPTER 2	‘The legs that put a kick into anthropology’	29
	Forerunners of the anthropology of dance
	ANDRÉE GRAU
CHAPTER 3	How musical is the citizen?	55
	MARTIN STOKES
CHAPTER 4	Why music matters	71
	Social aesthetics and cultural transmission
	JEROME LEWIS
CHAPTER 5	The ‘voice of the body’	95
	Revisiting the concept of embodied ethnography in the anthropology of dance
	ANN DAVID
CHAPTER 6	Ethnomusicology and filmmaking	121
	BARLEY NORTON

PART II

REGIONAL INSIGHTS

CHAPTER 7	The soundscapes turn in ethnomusicology	147
	Sonic territoriality and the Islamic revival across Chinese–Central Asian borders
	RACHEL HARRIS

CHAPTER 8	Performative bodies Overtoneing self and personhood among nomadic musicians and shamans of the Altai-Sayan Mountains of southern Siberia CAROLE PEGG	167
CHAPTER 9	'To win or lose a place in the sun' Sounding movements, changing contexts and the sean nós dancer CATHERINE E. FOLEY	195
CHAPTER 10	Local dance traditions and glocalised crisis A landscape of traditional dance in Greece under austerity MARIA KOUTSOUBA	213
CHAPTER 11	Music, power and patronage The case of the king's musicians of Buganda PETER COOKE	235
CONTRIBUTORS		259
INDEX		263