

---

Felix Biermann • Marek Jankowiak
Editors

The Archaeology of Slavery in Early Medieval Northern Europe

The Invisible Commodity

 Springer

E
A | European Association
A | of Archaeologists

---

Contents

1 Introduction: An ‘Invisible Commodity’? .....	1
Marek Jankowiak and Felix Biermann
Part I Comparative Perspectives
2 The Arrogation of Slavery: Prehistory, Archaeology, and Pre-theoretical Commitments Concerning People as Property .....	9
Timothy Taylor
3 Recent Approaches to the Archaeological Investigation of Slavery in Africa .....	23
Paul J. Lane
Part II The British Isles
4 To Tread the Paths, and Traverse the Moors: Investigating Slavery in Early Medieval Western Britain .....	43
Katie A. Hemer
5 The Archaeology of Slave Trading in Viking-Age Britain and Ireland: A Methodological Approach .....	53
Janel M. Fontaine
Part III Scandinavia
6 The Norm and the Subaltern: Identifying Slaves in an Early Medieval Scandinavian Society .....	67
Anna Kjellström
7 Legacy of the Disowned. Finding ambátts in High Medieval Scania and Östergötland Through Ceramic Production .....	81
Mats Roslund
8 Bonded People: Making Thralls Visible in Viking-Age and Early Medieval Sweden .....	99
Torun Zachrisson
Part IV Central Europe
9 Slave Trade in Great Moravia: Reality or Fiction? .....	113
Jiří Macháček

---

10 Slavery and Slave Trade in Early Medieval Bohemia: Archaeology of Slavery or Slavery of Archaeology? .....	127
Ivo Štefan
11 Archaeological Evidence for Slavery Among the Early Medieval North-Western Slavs .....	141
Felix Biermann
12 Tracing the Saqaliba: Slave Trade and the Archaeology of the Slavic Lands in the Tenth Century .....	161
Marek Jankowiak
Index .....	183