

Detlef Briesen, Wendelin Strubelt (eds.)

A New Beginning?

Spatial Planning and Research in Europe between 1945 and 1975

DEUTSCHE SOZIAL- UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der ESU

Campus Verlag
Frankfurt/New York

Contents

Preface	9
Detlef Briesen and Wendelin Strubelt
I Spatial planning in selected European countries
Spatial planning in Switzerland from 1945 to 1975	19
Martina Schretzenmayr
The role of spatial planning in the organization of Poland's space 1945–1975	53
Tadeusz Marszal
Polish regional and spatial planning, a short account of 20 th plus century	71
Grzegorz Gorzelak
A long path. Spatial planning and research in Austria from 1945 until 1975	93
Gerhard Schimak
Aménagement du territoire in France 1945–1975: a synchronic analysis ...	117
Frédéric Santamaria
1945–1975: What if Italy had been reconstructed through spatial planning?	135
Maria Prezioso
The Spanish case: from integral to sectoral plans; from land use to building permits for economic growth and developers	171
Joaquín Farinós Dasí

Barcelona 1950–1980	193
Andreu Ulied
Dutch spatial planning experience, the era of rebuilding 1950–1975 ...	219
Len de Klerk and Ries van der Wouden
Luxembourg-Kirchberg: heading towards the new European city	235
Markus Hesse
Land use, settlement, regional and territorial planning in the German Democratic Republic – on concepts and significance of spatial planning in Eastern Germany 1945–1975	251
Wendelin Strubelt
Spatial planning in Western Germany from 1945 to 1975	271
Detlef Briesen

II Reflexions

Spatial planning in Switzerland and the Federal Republic of Germany. Approaches to a comparison for the period after 1945 – with a view to future perspectives	309
Martin Lendi
Dutch planning: insider/outsider perspective	327
Andreas Faludi
French Aménagement du Territoire : roots and underlying narratives. New perspectives	347
Guy Baudelle and Jean Peyrony

III European perspectives

Spatial planning in Europe: from curiosity and engagement to scepticism and hope – a planner's European journey	375
Klaus R. Kunzmann

In search of unknowable novelty – a challenge to European spatial planning	407
Peter Ache
A short history of European spatial policy since 1945	431
Karl Peter Schön
What if there had been a spatial vision for Europe?	467
Kai Böhme and Maria Toptsidou
Appendix
About the authors	489