

SILENCES, NEGLECTED FEELINGS, AND BLIND-SPOTS IN RESEARCH PRACTICE

UNIVERSITÄT
MILITÄRISCHES
IN ZUSAMMENHANG MIT DER

Edited by Kathy Davis and Janice Irvine

CONTENTS

List of contributors	vii
Introduction Kathy Davis and Janice Irvine	1
PART I
Silences	15
1 Gold is Silence: On Money in Field Relationships Sealing Cheng	17
2 Keeping Quiet: Doing Research When You're Woman, Feminist and Black madeleine kennedy-macfoy	32
3 Navigating Race: Expectations Before, During, and After Research Jonathan R. Wynn	47
4 Do Lawsuits Silence? Legal Harassment in Corporate Crime Research Willem de Haan	61

PART II
Neglected Feelings	73
5 “Bad Feelings”: Reflections on Research, Disciplines, and Critical Methodologies Ghassan Moussawi and Jyoti Puri	75
6 The Shamefulness of Boredom: Are Good Researchers Allowed to be Bored? Kathy Davis	91
7 In Praise of Suspicion Oyman Başaran	105
8 Affective Ecologies and the Botanical Sublime Banu Subramaniam	117
PART III
Blind-spots	137
9 Coming to Terms with the Present: Difficult Feelings in Post-Shoah Germany Ina Schaum	139
10 “We Will Sue You If You Publish Our Pictures!”: Blind-spots in Research on Sex Workers Ida Sabelis and Lorraine Nencel	155
11 From Myopia to Clarity: Biases in International Field Research David A. Cort	168
PART IV
Concluding Conversations	179
12 Studying Those Who Hate Us: Fear, Anxiety and Blind-spots in Researching the Right Janice Irvine and Arlene Stein	181
Index	192