

HERITAGE, GENTRIFICATION AND RESISTANCE IN THE NEOLIBERAL CITY

Edited by

Feras Hammami, Daniel Jewesbury and Chiara Valli

FID. SOCIETÄT UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

berghahn

NEW YORK • OXFORD

www.berghahnbooks.com

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Preface	xi
Introduction. Exploring Injustices through Heritage in the Neoliberal City	1
Feras Hammami, Daniel Jewesbury and Chiara Valli
Part I. Heritage through Gentrification in the Post-Industrial City
Chapter 1. Theorizing Heritage in the Post-Industrial City	27
Maris Boyd Gillette
Chapter 2. The Value of the Uncool: Reflections on the Demolition of an Old Re-used Industrial Area	42
Helena Holgersson
Chapter 3. ‘Cleaning up’ Heritage in the Post-Industrial City: Making Heritage, Gentrification and Legitimacy in Gamlestaden	63
Feras Hammami and Chiara Valli
Part II. Gentrification through Heritage-Making and Remaking
Chapter 4. Beyond the Good, the Neutral and the Consensual: Heritage between the Police and the Political	83
Višnja Kisić
Chapter 5. Whose Heritage, Whose City? Questions from the Revolting New York Project	104
Don Mitchell

Chapter 6. ‘Virtuous Marginality’ Revisited and Revised: Distance, Difference and the Selection of Objects of Preservation in an Era of Hyper-Gentrification Japonica Brown-Saracino	112
Part III. Gentrification through Heritage-Led Resistance
Chapter 7. The Dynamic Authenticity of Local Mixed Streets: Street Heritage and Activism in Belfast City Centre Agustina Martire and Anna Skoura	125
Chapter 8. Gentrification and Public Heritage in Rome: The Potential and Ambiguities of the ‘Right to Buy’ Policy as a Strategy to Stay Put Sandra Annunziata, edited by Loretta Lees	151
Chapter 9. Public Art, Docile Bodies and the ‘Post-Conflict’ City Daniel Jewesbury	166
Epilogue. Reflections on Heritage, Gentrification, Resistance Daniel Jewesbury, Feras Hammami and Chiara Valli	185
Index	194