

Atsushi Nobayashi
Editor

Making Food in Local and Global Contexts

Anthropological Perspectives

FIS SOZIAL- UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der F&Z

 Springer

Contents

Introduction: Making Food in the Cultural and Civilized Contexts	1
Atsushi Nobayashi
Ecology and Food
Gastronomical Goods as a Biocultural Value of Wood Pastures in Eastern Europe	15
Anna Varga, Nikolett Darányi, Krisztina Molnár, Zsolt Molnár, and Noémi Ujházy
Merroir in the Making: Provenance Fetishism and the Social Construction of Taste in the Japanese Seafood System	33
Shingo Hamada
The Socio-Cultural Reception of MSG (Monosodium Glutamate) in Thailand	55
Yoshimi Osawa
Social Context of Food
Sharing Food and Conviviality in the Mediterranean Diet. Some Ethnographic Examples	71
Elisabetta Moro and Rossella Galletti
Rethinking Foodscapes. Does It Matter How Food Reaches My Plate?	89
Cristina Grasseni
Rethinking Family Commensality: Through Japanese Cases and Italian Ones	101
Taeko Udagawa

Ethnicity in Foodscape

- The “Making” of Hakka Cuisine: A Case Study for the Formation of Ethnic Food and Its Foodscapes in Southeast China 121
Hironao Kawai

- Tubawan* and the Play of Authorial Slippage: The Sani Yi people’s Practice of Hospitality Business and the Making of Indigenous Foodscape 137
Rongling Ge

- Translocal Foodscapes: Gastronomic Creativity in Mérida, Mexico, and Seville, Spain 151
Steffan Igor Ayora-Díaz

Food and the Nation

- The Tea Industry in Modern China and Public Demand for Tea 173
Jianping Guan

- On the Formation of Chinese National Cuisine: Historical and Anthropological Perspectives 187
Haruhiko Nishizawa

- Index 209