

POLARIZED PASTS

Heritage and Belonging in Times of Political Polarization

Edited by

Elisabeth Niklasson

FID SOZIAL- UND KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

berghahn
NEW YORK • OXFORD
www.berghahnbooks.com

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Introduction. Heritage and Belonging in Times of Political Polarization Elisabeth Niklasson	1
Chapter 1. Heritage, Memory, Race: The Culture of the Far Right Chiara de Cesari	24
Chapter 2. Innocence Reinvented: Far-Right Myth-Making in Hungary Cathrine Thorleifsson	50
Chapter 3. Possessive Pasts: Heritage in Far-Right Rhetoric in Scandinavia Elisabeth Niklasson and Herdis Hølleland	69
Chapter 4. ‘Western Civilization’, White Supremacism and the Myth of a White Ancient Greece Rebecca Futo Kennedy	88
Chapter 5. Memory between Repression and Deception: Germany’s Shattered Stratigraphies Reinhard Bernbeck	110
Chapter 6. Walking through the Darkest Valley: Heritage and Hatred in the Era of Reactionary Populism Alfredo González-Ruibal	134
Chapter 7. Is DNA a Dangerous Heritage? Chip Colwell	156

Chapter 8. The Sigtuna Debacle: A Story of Ancient DNA, Immigrants and Fake News in a Viking Age Town in Sweden Anna Källén	175
Chapter 9. The Threat of Essence: Reflections on the Heritage of Racism and the Racism of Heritage Michael Herzfeld	196
Index	217