

AGAINST BETTER JUDGMENT

Akrasia in Anthropological Perspectives

Edited by

Patrick McKearney and Nicholas H.A. Evans

FID SOZIAL- UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der Ethnologie

berghahn

NEW YORK • OXFORD
www.berghahnbooks.com

Contents

Introduction	1
PATRICK MCKEARNEY AND NICHOLAS H.A. EVANS
1. Trigger Warnings: Danger, Desire and Declensions of the Will in Eating Disorders Treatment	34
REBECCA J. LESTER
2. Three Problems with the Addiction as Akrasia Thesis That Ethnography Can Solve	50
DARIN WEINBERG
3. To Live Like 'People': Drinking and Weakness of Will among the Runa of the Ecuadorian Amazon	70
FRANCESCA MEZZENZANA
4. Prayer, Demons and Akratic Sublation	89
JON BIALECKI
5. Troubleshooting Humans: Modelling the Pathways to Inertia, Backsliding and Moral Transgression on Indonesia's Hypnotherapy Circuit	102
NICHOLAS J. LONG
6. The 'Replication' of Caste as a Form of Collective Akrasia	126
IVAN DESCHENAUX
7. Is Grit Irrational for Akratic Agents?	146
LUBOMIRA RADOILSKA
8. Relational Akrasia: Care and the Distribution of Action	169
PATRICK MCKEARNEY

Afterword. Akrasia in Its Social Context	189
RICHARD HOLTON
Index	196