

Handbook of Virtual Work

Edited by

Lucy L. Gilson

Dean, Peter T. Paul College of Business and Economics, University of New Hampshire, USA

Thomas O'Neill

Professor, Department of Psychology, University of Calgary, Canada

M. Travis Maynard

Associate Dean for Graduate Programs, College of Business, Colorado State University, USA

Edward Elgar
PUBLISHING

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of contributors	viii
Acknowledgments	xix
Introduction	xx
PART I TECHNOLOGY: THE FOUNDATION FOR VIRTUAL WORK
1 Bringing technological affordances into virtual work Jennifer L. Gibbs and Nitzan Navick	3
2 Role of communication technologies in virtual work Anu Sivunen, Jeffrey W. Treadem and Ward van Zoonen	21
3 Virtual collaboration: human foundations augmented by intelligent technology Terri L. Griffith and Utpal Mangla	41
4 Using AI to enhance collective intelligence in virtual teams: augmenting cognition with technology to help teams adapt to complexity Anita Williams Woolley, Pranav Gupta and Ella Glikson	67
5 Principles on how to manage interactions between human workers and artificial intelligence/machine learning technologies Michael A. Zaggl and Ann Majchrzak	89
6 Refocusing human–AI interaction through a teamwork lens Christopher Flathmann, Beau G. Schelble and Nathan J. McNeese	109
PART II THE PEOPLE MAKE THE VIRTUAL PLACE
7 When the time-space continuum shifts: telework and alterations in the work–family interface Timothy D. Golden and Valerie J. Morganson	130
8 Remoteness or virtuality? A refined framework of individual skills needed for remote and virtual work Erin E. Makarius and Barbara Z. Larson	146
9 Emotions and emotional management in virtual contexts Isabel D. Dimas, Teresa Rebelo, Marta P. Alves and Paulo R. Lourenço	164
10 Digital nomads: curiosity or trend? Robert C. Litchfield and Rachael A. Woldoff	186

PART III VIRTUALITY AND VIRTUAL TEAM INPUTS

- 11 Virtuality and the eyes of the beholder: beyond static relationships between teams and technology 199
Patrícia Costa and Lisa Handke
- 12 Leadership and virtual work in a pandemic and post-pandemic world 216
Claudia C. Cogliser, William L. Gardner, Haimanti Ghosh and Azucena Grady
- 13 Faultlines in virtual teams 235
Sherry M.B. Thatcher and Ramón Rico
- 14 The surge in digitalization: new challenges for team member collaboration 257
Thomas Hardwig and Margarete Boos

PART IV VIRTUAL TEAM PROCESSES AND EMERGENT STATES

- 15 Virtual teams and team cognition 280
Stephen M. Fiore, Rhys Bendell and Jessica Williams
- 16 Understanding trust in virtual work teams 305
Angie N. Benda, William S. Kramer, Mary E. Baak and Jennifer Feitosa
- 17 Bouncing back as a virtual team: essential elements of virtual team resilience 325
Nohelia Argote, Chloe Darlington, Jennifer Feitosa and Eduardo Salas
- 18 Engendering creativity in temporary virtual project teams: the case of a product design firm 347
Petros Chamakiotis and Niki Panteli

PART V THE ORGANIZATION: CONTEXT, CULTURE, AND SYSTEMS THAT SUPPORT VIRTUAL WORK

- 19 Organizational context and climate for virtual work 363
Emma Nordbäck and Niina Nurmi
- 20 Virtuality and inclusiveness in organizations 384
Jakob Lauring, Charlotte Jonasson and Marta Jackowska
- 21 Embracing the digital workplace: a SMART work design approach to supporting virtual work 403
Bin Wang and Sharon K. Parker
- 22 Global multinational organizations and virtual work 425
Miriam Erez, Ella Glikson and Raveh Harush
- 23 Orchestrating dynamic value networks: interface-focused pathways to enhance coordination and learning 442
Sanjay Gosain, Arvind Malhotra and Omar A. El Sawy

PART VI CONCLUSION

24	Virtual work – where do we go from here? Setting a research agenda Thomas O'Neill, M. Travis Maynard, Lucy L. Gilson, James M. Hughes and Nathaniel Easton	466
	Index	483