

The anthropology of ambiguity

Edited by

Mahnaz Alimardanian and Timothy Heffernan

FID SOZIAL- UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of contributors	viii
Introduction – Timothy Heffernan and Mahnaz Alimardanian	1
Part I: Theorising ambiguity
1 Ontology and its double: on the nature of ambiguity and lived experience – Mahnaz Alimardanian	15
2 Ambiguity and catastrophe: crises of understanding in the age of COVID-19 – David J. Rosner	32
3 Ambiguity and politics: the suppression of complexity in Australian governmental responses to climate change – Jonathan P. Marshall	47
Part II: Navigating temporal disruption
4 Queering the crisis–recovery nexus: personhood and societal transformation after economic collapse in Iceland – Timothy Heffernan	67
5 Accommodating care through strategic ignorance: the ambiguities of kidney disease amongst Yolŋu renal patients in Australia’s Northern Territory – Stefanie Puszka	85
6 Charting fields of uncertainty: disaster, displacement and resilience in Bangladeshi char villages – Mohammad Altaf Hossain	103
Part III: Imagining an ‘otherwise’
7 Ambiguity in Belgrade’s bike activism: marginalised activists, powerful agents of change – Sabrina Steindl-Kopf	121
8 Adding (ambiguous) value: interfacing between alternative economics and entrepreneurial innovation in Ecuador – Alexander Emile D’Aloia	138

9	The sovereign's road: checkpoints and the ambiguity of exception during Aotearoa's lockdown – Joe Clifford	154
10	Grease Yakā in Sri Lankan political culture: humour, anxiety and existential ambiguities in the public sphere – Anton Piyarathne	171
Part IV: Self-realisation and disjuncture
11	Liminal ambiguity: the tricky position of being Black in white skin – Suzi Hutchings	191
12	The ambiguous path of self-cultivation in contemporary China – Gil Hizi	208
13	Ontological ambiguity: crisis, hyperfiction and social narratives in postmodern Japan – Angélica Cabrera Torrecilla	224
	Afterword: sitting and being with ambiguity – Mahnaz Alimardanian and Timothy Heffernan	240
	Index	249