

Performative Linguistic Space

Ethnographies of Spatial Politics and Dynamic Linguistic Practices

Edited by

Neriko Musha Doerr and Jennifer M. McGuire

FID SOZIAL- UND
KULTURANTHROPOLOGIE
in Zusammenarbeit mit der DFG

DE GRUYTER
MOUTON

Contents

Preface — V

Neriko Musha Doerr, Jennifer M. McGuire

Introduction: Performative linguistic spaces that make utterances and signs (not) happen — 1

Neriko Musha Doerr

Performative linguistic space of study abroad: Immersion discourse, short-term programs, colonial legacies, and US immigrant space — 27

Ngọc Anh Đỗ, Gregory S. Poole

Languaging at an English-taught undergraduate program in Japan: Reconceptualizing spatial codes — 61

Yuri Kumagai

Moving from physical to virtual learning spaces: Learning a foreign language during the COVID-19 pandemic in a Zoom classroom — 93

Jennifer M. McGuire

Deaf in hearing spaces: Performative linguistic spaces shaped by audism, phonocentrism, and linguistic ideologies — 123

Cori Jakubiak

“It’s only in retrospect that I can be really critical of it”: Performative linguistic “safe spaces” and becoming critical of volunteer tourism — 149

Laura Miller

Afterword: Japanese loanwords in performative linguistic spaces — 169

Notes on contributors — 179

Index — 181