

HIGHER EDUCATION IN VIRTUAL WORLDS: TEACHING AND LEARNING IN SECOND LIFE

EDITED BY

CHARLES WANKEL

St. John's University, New York, USA

JAN KINGSLEY

Association for Professional and Executive Learning, Barcelona, Spain

United Kingdom • North America • Japan
India • Malaysia • China

Contents

List of Contributors	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
1. Overcoming the Entry Barriers to Second Life in Higher Education Gavin Dudeney and Howard Ramsay	11
2. Communication Challenges and Opportunities for Educators Using Second Life John C. Sherblom, Lesley A. Withers and Lynnette G. Leonard	29
3. Inclusion Benefits and Barriers of “Once-Removed” Participation Simon Ball and Rob Pearce	47
4. Opportunities and Challenges for Business Education in Second Life Edwin Love, Steven C. Ross and Wendy Wilhelm	65
5. Virtual Worlds and Business Schools – The Case of INSEAD Andreas M. Kaplan	83
6. Online Instructor Immediacy and Instructor-Student Relationships in Second Life Traci L. Anderson	101
7. Cross-World Branding – One World is Not Enough Nina Belei, Gwen Noteborn and Ko de Ruyter	115
8. Literary Analysis as Serious Play in Second Life Mary McAleer Balkun, Mary Zedeck and Heidi Trotta	141

vi Contents

9. Second Life – a Context for Design Learning Ning Gu, Leman Figen Gul, Anthony Williams and Walaiporn Nakapan	159
10. The Theatre of Performance Appraisal: Role-Play in Second Life Shona Morse, Fiona Littleton, Hamish Macleod and Rory Ewins	181
11. Using Second Life at the Open University: How the Virtual World Can Facilitate Learning for Staff and Students Steph Broadribb, Anna Peachey, Chris Carter and Francine Westrap	203
12. Aging, Lifelong Learning, and the Virtual World of Second Life Leslie Jarmon, Tomoko Watanabe Traphagan, John W. Traphagan and Lynn Jones Eaton	221
Author Index	243
Subject Index	249