

DOCTORAL EDUCATION AND
THE FACULTY OF THE FUTURE

EDITED BY

RONALD G. EHRENBERG
AND CHARLOTTE V. KUH

CORNELL UNIVERSITY PRESS
ITHACA AND LONDON

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
RONALD G. EHRENBERG AND CHARLOTTE V. KUH
I. Improving Doctoral Education
1. Changing the Education of Scholars: An Introduction to the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation's Graduate Education Initiative	15
RONALD G. EHRENBERG, HARRIET ZUCKERMAN, JEFFREY A. GROEN, AND SHARON M. BRUCKER
2. The Council of Graduate Schools' PhD Completion Project	35
DANIEL D. DENECKE, HELEN S. FRASIER, AND KENNETH E. REDD
3. Advocating Apprenticeship and Intellectual Community: Lessons from the Carnegie Initiative on the Doctorate	53
CHRIS M. GOLDE, ANDREA CONKLIN BUESCHEL, LAURA JONES, AND GEORGE E. WALKER
4. Three Ways of Winning Doctoral Education: Rate of Progress, Degree Completion, and Time to Degree	65
CATHERINE M. MILLETT AND MICHAEL T. NETTLES

5. Confronting Common Assumptions: Designing Future-Oriented Doctoral Education MARESI NERAD	80
II. Attracting Undergraduates to PhD Study
6. Generating Doctoral Degree Candidates at Liberal Arts Colleges ROBERT J. LEMKE	93
7. Undergraduate STEM Research Experiences: Impact on Student Interest in Doing Graduate Work in STEM Fields MYLES BOYLAN	109
III. Increasing the Representation of People of Color in the PhD Pool
8. Minority Students in Science and Math: What Universities Still Do Not Understand about Race in America RICHARD TAPIA AND CYNTHIA JOHNSON	123
9. The Mathematical and Theoretical Biology Institute: A Successful Model for Increasing Minority Representation in the Mathematical Sciences CARLOS CASTILLO-CHAVEZ AND CARLOS CASTILLO-GARROW	135
10. Curriculum Intensity in Graduate Preparatory Programs: The Impact on Performance and Progression to Graduate Study among Minority Students in Economics CHARLES BECKER AND GREGORY PRICE	146
11. Assessing Programs to Improve Minority Participation in the STEM Fields: What We Know and What We Need to Know CHERYL LEGGON AND WILLIE PEARSON JR.	160
IV. Increasing the Representation of Women in Academia
12. First a Glass Ceiling, Now a Glass Cliff? The Changing Picture for Women in Science and Higher Education Careers M. R. C. GREENWOOD	175
13. Increasing Women's Representation in the Life Sciences JONG-ON HAHM	182

14. Attracting and Retaining Women in Engineering: The Tufts University Experience LINDA ABRIOLA AND MARGERY DAVIES	192
---	-----

V. The Internationalization of Doctoral Education

15. Do Foreign Doctorate Recipients Displace U.S. Doctorate Recipients at U.S. Universities? LIANG ZHANG	209
--	-----

16. Opening (and Closing) Doors: Country-Specific Shocks in U.S. Doctoral Education EMILY BLANCHARD, JOHN BOUND, AND SARAH TURNER	224
---	-----

17. What the “War on Terror” Has Meant for U.S. Colleges and Universities MICHAEL A. OLIVAS	249
---	-----

Looking to the Future RONALD G. EHRENBERG AND CHARLOTTE V. KUH	259
---	-----

Notes	263
References	277
Contributors	293
Author Index	297
Subject Index	301