

Professional Life in Modern British Higher Education

Edited by Bryan Cunningham

Institute of Education Press
Bedford Way Papers

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
Acknowledgements	viii
About the contributors	ix
Foreword: The death of 'the don', by Sir Peter Scott	xiv
Introduction	xviii
Bryan Cunningham
1 The changing character of university work	1
Paul Temple
2 Being REFable: Strategies and tactics in meeting the challenges of the research quality assessment process	14
Andrew Brown
3 Approaches to developing pedagogic skills in the new higher education teacher	26
Clare Bentall
4 Enhancing 'quality' in the academy: Some tensions and contradictions	45
Bryan Cunningham
5 Engaging professionally: Who does quality?	61
Harriet Barnes and Janet Bohrer
6 The meta-medical educator OR Three Alices in Wonderland: Stories about medical education, community, and technologies of practice	76
Sophie Park, Ann Griffin, and Anita Berlin
7 Peripheral professionals? The place of teacher educators in higher education	114
Sam Duncan
8 Developing a curriculum for diversity: Raising awareness, increasing understanding, and changing professional practice	125
Liz Thomas

Afterword: Whither the HE professional? Bryan Cunningham	147
Index	154