

Geopolitics, Culture, and the Scientific Imaginary in LATIN AMERICA

Edited by María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page

University of Florida Press
Gainesville

Contents

- List of Figures ix
Acknowledgments xi
Note on Translations xii

Introduction: Reimagining Science in Latin America 1
María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page

SECTION I. LATIN AMERICA'S SCIENTIFIC LANDSCAPES

Introduction to Section I 25
María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page

1. Bone Tales: Patagonian Monsters and the Paleontological Imagination 31
Gabriela Nouzeilles
2. Nation as Laboratory: Rethinking Science Writing in Mexico's República Restaurada, 1868–1876 62
María del Pilar Blanco
3. Natural Histories of the Anthropocene: Santiago del Estero, Argentina, in the 1930s 78
Jens Andermann

SECTION II. LATIN AMERICA AS A SITE OF KNOWLEDGE PRODUCTION

Introduction to Section II 97
María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page

4. Empathy, Patients' Needs, and Therapeutic Innovation in the Medical Literature of Early Viceregal Mexico 103
Yarí Pérez Marín
5. Between Potosí and Nuevo Potosí: Mineral Riches and Observations of Nature in the Colonial Andes, ca. 1590–1800 117
Heidi V. Scott
6. Indigenous Medicine and Nation-Building: Hermilio Valdizán's Medical Project 133
Edward Chauca

SECTION III. SCIENCE AND THE MODERN NATION

- Introduction to Section III 151
María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page
7. Postcolonial Social Sciences of Nineteenth-Century Spanish America: Land Surveys, Comparative Political Sociology, and the Malleability of Race 155
Lina del Castillo
 8. “Una nueva y gloriosa nación”: Patriotic Lyrics and Scientific Culture in the Forging of Political Emancipation in Río de la Plata 173
Miguel de Asúa
 9. Inventions and Discoveries in Letters to Perón: Dialogue and Autonomy in the Popular Technical Imagination in Argentina in the 1940s and 1950s 187
Hernán Comastri

SECTION IV. UTOPIAN CONVERGENCES BETWEEN SCIENCE AND THE ARTS

- Introduction to Section IV 207
María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page
10. Modernismo, Spiritualism, and Science in Argentina at the Turn of the Twentieth Century: An Analysis of National Magazines 215
Soledad Quereilhac
 11. Doing Poetry with Science: Unthinking Knowledge in Sarduy, Perlongher, and Eielson 230
Julio Prieto

12. The Science of Reading Fiction: New (Post-Darwinian) Metaphors
to Live By 254
Joanna Page

SECTION V. SCIENCE, EPISTEMOLOGY, AND THE CRITIQUE OF MODERNITY

Introduction to Section V 271

María del Pilar Blanco and Joanna Page

13. Laboratories of Universality: A Genealogy of Solitary Latin American
Inventors 275
Carlos Fonseca Suárez
14. The Politics of Relativity: Radical Epistemologies and the Revolutionary Potential of the Scientific Imaginary in José Carlos Mariátegui 291
Brais D. Outes-León
15. Beyond Empiricism: Rolando García's Theory of Complex Systems and the Epistemological Consequences of a Nonlinear Universe 305
Mara Polgovsky Ezcurra
- List of Contributors 323
- Index 327