

Black Liberation in Higher Education

Considerations for Research and Practice

Edited by

Chayla Haynes, Milagros Castillo-Montoya, Meseret F. Hailu and Saran Stewart

Contents

Citation Information	vi
Notes on Contributors	viii
Preface	ix
Introduction – Black Deprivation, Black Resistance, and Black Liberation: the influence of #BlackLivesMatter (BLM) on higher education Chayla Haynes, Milagros Castillo-Montoya, Meseret F. Hailu and Saran Stewart	1
1 When the levees break: the cost of vicarious trauma, microaggressions and emotional labor for Black administrators and faculty engaging in race work at traditionally White institutions Myntha Anthym and Franklin Tuitt	6
2 Teaching a transnational ethic of Black Lives Matter: an AfroCubana Americana’s theory of Calle Amalia Dache	28
3 Student resistance movements in higher education: an analysis of the depiction of Black Lives Matter student protests in news media Meseret F. Hailu and Molly Sarubbi	42
4 Racially liberatory pedagogy: a Black Lives Matter approach to education Milagros Castillo-Montoya, Joshua Abreu and Abdul Abad	59
5 A message for faculty from the present-day movement for black lives Chayla Haynes and Kevin J. Bazner	80
6 Theorizing Black women’s experiences with institution-sanctioned violence: a #BlackLivesMatter imperative toward Black liberation on campus Lori D. Patton and Nadrea R. Njoku	96
7 Black Liberation research: qualitative methodological considerations Saran Stewart and Chayla Haynes	117
Index	125