

Daniela Worek & Christian Kraler (Eds.)

Teacher Education

The Bologna Process and the Future of Teaching

Waxmann 2021
Münster • New York

Table of Contents

Preface	7
Introduction	11
Daniela Worek & Christian Kraler
Twenty Years after the Bologna Declaration: From Promoter to Driver of Change ...	17
Romița Iucu & Simona Iftimescu
The Bologna Process as a Stimulus for Changes in Initial Primary Class Teacher Education Comparison of Croatia and Slovenia	29
Mojca Peček & Vlatka Domović
For better and for worse: Universitisation, the Bologna Process and Initial Teacher Education in Malta	39
Joseph Giordmaina
The “Universitisation” of Initial Teacher Education (ITE) Discourses, actions and evaluation practices	49
Fernando Alexandre
Teacher evaluation models: An opportunity for professional development?	59
Ilídia Cabral
Teacher Education Policy Issues in Poland Recommendations for Building a High-Quality Teaching Profession	69
Joanna Madalińska-Michalak
Education Evaluation Policies Teacher evaluation in Portugal – accountability or professional development	79
Carlos Barreira
Exploring European Teacher Education Between Discursive Construct and Reality Discrepancies, Criteria and Missed Windows of Opportunity	89
Marvin Erfurth & Ellen Christoforatu

The Interrelationship between Mutual Trust and Mutual Recognition in European Teacher Education
A German Support Intervention for Teachers from Abroad	99
Daniela Worek, Ursula Uzerli & Heidelies Bierbach-Müller
How Does the Role of Research in Teacher Education in Europe Matter?	109
Elaine Munthe
Five Aspects for a Sustainable Future of (Initial) Teacher Education in Europe	119
Christian Kraler & Daniela Worek
Biographical Notes	125