

THE GLOBAL SCHOLAR

IMPLICATIONS FOR POSTGRADUATE STUDIES
AND SUPERVISION

EDITORS

PETER RULE

ELI BITZER

LIEZEL FRICK

 SPRINGER

CONTENTS

List of Tables	ix
-----------------------------	----

List of Figures	ix
------------------------------	----

Introduction

The global scholar: Three conceptual lenses - horizon, currency, trajectory	1
Peter Rule, Eli Bitzer & Liezel Frick

PART ONE • Horizons

1 Opportunities and challenges of international research experiences during doctoral studies in a globalised doctoral education world	17
Maresi Nerad
2 Doctoral education as a field of global scholarship: An analysis of Anglophone published research (2005-2018)	43
Liezel Frick & Johann Mouton
3 The Vitae Researcher Development Framework in South African postgraduate education	63
Pia Lamberti & Moyra Keane
4 Is international benchmarking appropriate for improving the quality of thesis examination?	83
Margaret Kiley

PART TWO • Currents and currencies

5 The politics of postgraduate education: Supervising in a troubled world	97
Sioux Mckenna
6 Academic mobility in the digital academy: Questions for supervision	113
Anna Morozov & Cally Guerin
7 The implications of doctoral mobility for doctoral programme design and supervision	131
Rebekah Smith McGloin
8 Quality doctoral education in Africa: A question of setting the right standards?	149
Jan Botha, Marc Wilde, Mike Kuria & Murat Özgören

PART THREE • Trajectories

9 The interdisciplinary PhD: Processes, outcomes and challenges 175
Karri A. Holley

10 Finding academic jobs in stratified countries: The effects of social class of origin in the development of academic networks for Chilean PhDs 189
Roxana Chiappa

11 Towards a theoretical framework for exploring emotion in doctoral education:
Critically exploring familiar narratives in student experiences 215
Sherran Clarence

12 Working together beyond the PhD 231
Gina Wisker, Gillian Robinson & Shosh Leshem

PART FOUR • Reflections and directions

13 Reflections on Covid-19 and the global scholar 253
Peter Rule

Index 267

Contributing Authors 271