

Unravelling Research

The Ethics & Politics
of Knowledge Production
in the Social Sciences

Edited by Teresa Macías

Afterword by Sherene H. Razack

Fernwood Publishing
Halifax & Winnipeg

Contents

Acknowledgements.....	vi
Contributors .....	viii
1 Introduction: Unravelling Research Teresa Macías .....	1
2 Latina Knowledge Production and the Ethics of Ambiguity Vannina Sztainbok and Lorena M. Gajardo .....	19
3 Dwelling in the Ethical Quicksand of Archival Research Violence and Representation in the Telling of Terror Stories Teresa Macías .....	43
4 Accountability in Ethnographic Research: Researching the Making of White/Northern Subjects through Anti-Black Racism while Brown Leila Angod .....	67
5 Racialized Discourses: Writing against an Essentialized Story about Racism as a Practice of Ethics Harjeet Kaur Badwall .....	88
6 Mad Epistemologies and Maddening the Ethics of Knowledge Production Brenda A. LeFrançois and Jijian Voronka .....	105
7 Less Dangerous Collaborations?: Governance through Community- Based Participatory Research Julia Elizabeth Janes .....	131
8 “Let Us Tell Our Story”: Deep Memory, Mnemonic Resistance, and the Failure to Witness in Research with Street Sex Workers Caitlin Janzen and Susan Strega .....	154
9 Digital Racism: The Re-Shaping of Consent, Privacy, Knowledge and Notions of the Public Anne O’Connell .....	182
Afterword: Researchers of Good Will Sherene H. Razack .....	211
Index.....	220